PROJECTS

PokeDex ↗
Created a simple web application (SWA) with HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Bootstrap that showcases a searchable list of various Pokemon characters and their descriptions. An external API was used to load such data.

Stubz API ↗
Built a RESTful API using Node and Express that provides all necessary URL endpoints to access the movie, genre, director, and user collections stored within a database created in MongoDB.

Stubz ↗
Developed a single-page application (SPA) using React for the client-side of Stubz API that allows new users to register; and existing users access to information about different movies, directors, and genres; as well as, update their user profile and add/remove movies to their list of favorites.

Meet ↗
Applied test-driven development (TDD) technique to build a serverless, progressive web application (PWA) that uses the Google Calendar API to fetch details on upcoming, fictitious coding events in cities all over the world.
